

TUMORS CONQUERED

Overwhelming Proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy Tumor.

The growth of a tumor is so insidious that frequently its presence is wholly unsuspected until it is well advanced.

So called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages or the presence of danger may be made manifest by excessive monthly periods accompanied by unusual pain, from the abdomen through the groin and thigh.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation or displacements, secure a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, right away and begin its use.

The following letters should convince every suffering woman of its virtue, and that it actually does conquer tumors.

Mrs. May Fry, of 836 W. Colfax Ave., South Bend, Ind., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I take great pleasure in writing to thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I also took the Blood Purifier in alternate doses with the Compound. Your medicine removed a cyst tumor of four years' growth, which three of the best physicians declared I had. They had said that only an operation could help me. I am very thankful that I followed a friend's advice and took your medicine. It has made me a strong and well woman and I shall recommend it as long as I live."

Mrs. E. F. Hayes, of 26 Ruggles St., Boston, Mass., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have been under different doctors' treatment for a long time without relief. They told me I had a fibroid tumor, my abdomen was swollen and I suffered with great pain. I wrote to you for advice, you replied and I followed your directions carefully and today I am a well woman. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system."

Mrs. Perry Byers, of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have been under different doctors' treatment for a long time without relief. They told me I had a fibroid tumor, my abdomen was swollen and I suffered with great pain. I wrote to you for advice, you replied and I followed your directions carefully and today I am a well woman. Lydia E. ## A SESSION RECORD TO BE PROUD OF pressed that another fifteen, or fifty days would not result in any material changes being made, except for the increased expense account which it would cause.

The Governor has not been silent regarding his disapproval of the manner in which the appropriations have been made. He declares that the appropriations have been on erroneous estimate of the revenues of the Territory for the next two years. The financiers of the House show a convincing bunch of figures, and have pointed out to the Executive that if there is a mistake it lies in the item of $271,783.94, the amount available from the present biennial period as taken from the Governor's own report.

As a matter of comparison the amount of work done by the present Legislature, and the time and money required in which to do it, is away ahead of any of the other terms. Follow some data on the subject:

Session 1901—Time, 120 days; number of bills passed besides the appropriation measures, 22; cost, $92,000.

Session 1903—Time, 90 days; number of bills passed besides appropriation measures, 63; cost, $53,000.

Session 1905—Time, 82 days; number of bills passed besides the appropriation bills, 103; cost, $67,000.

Session 1907—Time, 60 days; number of bills passed besides the appropriation measures, 114; cost, about $55,000.

About a dozen measures at this writing are in the Governor's hands, a number of which will likely become law.

The House yesterday cleared its calendar so far as the regular course of bills are concerned, although there are a number of vetoed measures which have yet to be passed upon. It is likely that up to about 9 o'clock tonight the Governor will continue to return various measures in his hands, and they will be acted on as fast as they are presented.

To-night the House will close its work in a blaze of oratory and love feast pow-wow. It is one of the encouraging traits of human kind that differences of opinion which loom like mountains at the time they occur can grow so small in perspective when compared with the general results accomplished in the advancement of the race. Obstacles that seemed insurmountable become so small as to almost escape observation. A visitor in the House today would never imagine that the beautiful harmony in evidence had on a number of occasions been strained to near the breaking point during the past eight weeks, and that predictions of hopeless strife were not uncommon a number of times. But a strong hand at the helm, and an inherent spirit of fairness in the members, inspired the members to a sportsmanlike give and take policy, which safely carried the legislative craft over the mud banks which threatened to ground her.

To the outside observer, who has not had his sense of proportion distorted by too close scrutiny of the various details, the situation of Hawaii today is bright. Considering the troubles of the previous legislatures, the present record shows a long stride ahead in the matter of statesmanship. That such can be the case, in a territory where the population is so diverse in character, and is yet able to pull together in running a successful popular form of government, speaks eloquently for the character of the mass of the people, and for the future of the islands.

Despite the claims made by the House during the session of the legislature, that the Senate was holding up House bills and not conducting its work rapidly enough, the work done by the Senate was of a very effective character. The membership of the Senate was more limited than that of the House and the material to serve on committees was, in consequence, scarcer. The result was that the members of the Senate had to double up on committee work and practically all of the members were on at least two committees. The work done by the Senate committees was of an especially creditable character and the Senate as a body gave more time to the deliberations of the various measures than did the House.

There were introduced in the Senate 117 bills. Of these 53 reached the Governor and were approved, while 58 never were passed, dying either on vote or by some other process in the Senate. The Governor vetoed six Senate measures and of this number two were passed over his veto. On the remainder the veto was sustained. In the last legislature there were 114 bills introduced in the Senate.

The veto of House bill raising the income tax exemption to $1600 was taken up, but on motion of Lane action was deferred until 2 p. m. The same was done in regard to the veto of House Bill 34, the leper bill, and House Bill 213, which provides that 50 per cent of the taxes, district court costs and license fees be turned over to the Counties, and the veto of House Bill 128, the County grab bill was sustained.

House Bill No. 24, the medical practice measure, as amended by the Judiciary Committee, passed third reading by a vote of 9 to 1, although Makekau tried unsuccessfully to have the bill indefinitely postponed.

House Bill No. 171, the measure providing for the marking of ballots, passed third reading.

A message was received from the Governor vetoing a claim of $2500 of R. Maka for lands taken for the widening of Beretania street; and $1500 of F. R. Lucweike, as damages for the non-fulfillment of a contract by the government. The first veto was sustained but the second was overridden.

A recess was taken to enable the clerk to catch up on certain work until the afternoon be reconsidered. His Excellency moved that the action to defer action on the Governor's appointments idea was to refer the various appointments of license commissioners to the different island delegations to report upon at 2 p. m. On motions of Makekau and Knudsen the appointments for those islands were not included in the motion.

Concho's motion carried, and such disposition was made. The appointments of the Hawaii and Kauai liquor commissioners were confirmed without discussion.

for a city and county to be incorporated out of the present county of Oahu. The original bill was amended in numerous ways but the most material features were unchanged during the progress of its passage through both houses of the legislature.

The city of Honolulu is to be divided to six districts. There is no very material change from the present system of county government, except that an additional officer that of mayor is created under the act. The mayor is given considerable discretionary power and serves as a check upon the board of supervisors, as he has the power of the veto. All mayors are given the right to a seat and a participation in the debates of the supervisors but are entitled to no vote.

Under its original draft, the bill provided for an election this year but after considerable debate in the Senate this section was amended so that the election will be held jointly with the general elections next year. The question of salary of the mayor was discussed at some length and it was reduced from its original figure of $4,500 amendment being $2,400 a year. The mayor has the appointing power of all officers of the city and county, whose election or appointment has not otherwise been provided for. The supervisors are elected at large.
